

HOW IS YOUR DAY TODAY???

Life is interesting, isn't it? One moment things can be cruising along with you enjoying life. Things are under control, with no storm clouds on the horizon, then everything falls apart. One minute your worries are minor, the next they are major. One minute your relationships are satisfying and your spiritual walk seems deep and intimate. The next minute you are overwhelmed. The life that only moments before seemed so good, so right, so blessed by God, is all of a sudden leaving you dazed and confused.

Trials (suffering) wear many faces. It may take the form of a spouse who suddenly walks out the door. It may take the form of a financial crisis. For many, it starts with a grave diagnosis from a routine checkup, or even the death of a loved one. But one thing is usually sure, if you are involved, nothing makes sense.

At that point, life seems to grind into slow motion or simply to a halt. Everything you thought you knew about life, faith, and God seems irrelevant when you are in emotional and/or spiritual pain. Then come the questions, "Why God?" "Why is this happening to me?" "What did I do to deserve this?" "What's wrong with me?" "Why are you doing this to me, God?"

When life goes astray, can we expect any comfort when our questions seem to go unanswered? The answer is: Yes we can! Here is a "key." True comfort is not found in knowing the "why"! True comfort is knowing the "One" who truly understands our pain and our circumstances. At Fellowship, we devote Tuesday and Thursday mornings to helping people work through difficult circumstances and life's trials. We believe God can and will help!
